

Canadian Interfaith Conversation

Executive Committee – April. 2025

Pastor Peter Noteboom
General Secretary
The Canadian Council of Churches

Peter was appointed to a five-year term as General Secretary in May 2018. The responsibilities of General Secretary are to lift up the call for gospel unity, to provide direction and leadership through the development of vision and priorities, to implement the strategic and program plans of the Council, to facilitate Canadian and global ecumenical relationships, and to participate and lead in Canadian Interfaith initiatives. Peter serves as Co-Chair of the Canadian Interfaith Conversation, advocating for religion in a pluralistic society and in Canadian public life. He is also a member of the Interfaith Committee for the Canadian Military Chaplaincy and the Interfaith Committee on the Chaplaincy in the Correctional Service of Canada. Peter lives in Toronto with his wife Jeanette. They have two children.

Rizwan Mohammadi
Senior Advocacy Officer,
National Council of Canadian Muslims

Over the past two decades, Rizwan has studied and taught Islam, trained leaders of Muslim Students' Associations, and served a diverse array of Muslim-led community organizations across Canada. For over a decade, Rizwan managed national civic engagement projects focused on mobilizing youth and community leaders in active citizenship and to engage in service-learning activities designed to strengthen civil society. A critical part of this work was building the capacity of Canadian Muslims to engage in faith-based advocacy and interfaith bridge building. As a Senior Advocacy Officer with the National Council of Canadian Muslims (NCCM), Rizwan's current work is focused on policy and legislation related to public safety, hate crime, online harms, ethical use of technology, and religious freedom. Rizwan is a graduate of the University of Toronto with a specialization in Islamic Studies. He loves his hometown of Toronto, hockey, and Anne of Green Gables.
